Product Description

Wrapping film, also known as packaging film or stretch film, is a widely used packaging material with multiple uses and significant features.

The wrapping film is mainly made of plastic materials such as polyethylene (PE), which have high strength, flexibility, and ductility.

It has good moisture-proof and waterproof properties, which can effectively prevent goods from getting damp or being eroded by water.

Whether it is mechanical packaging or manual packaging, wrapping film is easy to operate and can improve packaging efficiency.

Wrapping film is usually made of non-toxic and odorless materials, which are environmentally friendly and meet environmental requirements.
