Product Description

Handheld intelligent inkjet printer

The Handheld printer is an efficient, flexible and intelligent marking device designed to meet the diverse needs of modern industry and business.

It supports handwritten input and supports both Chinese and English, so you can freely express your creativity on the 4.3-inch HD screen, whether it is a signature, a slogan or a personalized design.

In terms of material adaptability, the hand-held inkjet printer performs well. It can easily print carton, metal, plastic, wood, glass and other materials, and the printing effect is clear and durable. This feature makes it widely used in packaging, manufacturing, logistics and other fields.

The high-definition resolution of 600DPI ensures fine and recognizable print content. Whether it is small text or complex patterns, it can be perfectly presented. In addition, the printing height is adjustable from 2-12.7mm, and users can accurately adjust according to actual needs to obtain the best printing effect.

In terms of interface, the handheld inkjet is equipped with a variety of interfaces such as USB, charging port and photoelectric port, which is convenient for users to transfer data, charge and connect other devices. This design not only improves the practicality of the device, but also provides users with a more convenient operating experience.

Whether it is printing date, time, batch number and other basic information, or English, Chinese characters, pictures, two-dimensional code and other complex content, handheld inkjet printer can easily cope with. Its emergence not only improves work efficiency, but also provides strong support for product quality improvement and brand image building. Choose a hand-held printer to make your signage work more efficient and intelligent.
