Product Description

Semi-automatic baler

This low-stage semi-automatic strapping machine is specially designed for heavy cargo packaging and is a helpful assistant in warehousing, logistics and other fields. It uses advanced mechanical structure, coupled with powerful bundling function, making heavy packing easy and fast.

This machine is suitable for PP packing belt, the width range is wide, from 5mm to 15.5mm can be applied, the thickness is between 0.5mm to 0.85mm, to meet different packaging needs. Whether it is light or heavy packing belt, you can find the perfect match on this machine.

In terms of strapping speed, the machine performs well, each strapping only takes 3 seconds, which greatly improves the work efficiency. This means you can complete packaging tasks faster, reduce wait times, and increase overall operational efficiency. In terms of operation, the machine adopts simple operation panel, and the design is intuitive and easy to understand. Even first-time users can master the operation method in a short time and easily get started. This greatly reduces the difficulty of operation and improves the convenience of work.

In addition, this semi-automatic strapping machine is versatile. Whether it is warehouse management, food packaging or logistics distribution, it can be found. Its emergence provides a more efficient and convenient packaging solution for all walks of life.

In short, this low table semi-automatic strapping machine with its powerful function, easy operation and a wide range of uses, has become a high-profile product on the market. If you are looking for a machine suitable for heavy packing, you may wish to consider this semi-automatic strapping machine, it will become a useful tool in your work.
