Product Description

Pneumatic tensioner

In the field of heavy cargo transportation and warehousing, stable bundling is essential. With its excellent tension and locking strength, FTL pneumatic split baler has become a professional packaging tool trusted by steel, aluminum, building materials and other industries. Whether it is a large metal coil, heavy pipe, or bricks, wooden boxes and other goods, it can provide safe and reliable bundling guarantee.

Our Product Introduction

- ✓ Super power, strapping more firmly
The maximum tension of the tensioner is 8500N, which ensures that the steel strip is tightly fitted to the cargo and avoids the risk of loosening during transportation.
  - ✓ Professional adaptation, widely used
Designed for 19-32mm wide and 0.6-1.2mm thick steel belts, suitable for strapping various heavy industrial materials.
The pneumatic drive mode is used with the air pump (working pressure 0.49-0.63Mpa), which has strong power and stable operation.
  - ✓ Efficient and durable, save worry and effort
Split structure design, flexible operation, easy to maintain and replace parts, extend the service life of the equipment.
Widely used in steel mills, logistics warehousing, building materials processing, machinery manufacturing and other industries to meet diverse packaging needs.
- Buy and enjoy value-added services:
Free detailed instructions and professional kits to help you easily get started and quickly put into production.
Choosing FTL pneumatic split baler is to choose an efficient, safe and durable industrial bundling solution.
Whether it is to improve the efficiency of work, or to ensure the safety of transportation, it is your indispensable right-hand man!
